Awake of the need to communicate and share about synthetic biology, IONIS Paris team, gathers students with different backgrounds in order to offer a new way to popularize life sciences. In this way, the team has taken the challenge to develop a project based on two approaches:

The Bio-Console: a real synthetic biology game

BactMan Adventures: a mobile application presenting biology, synthetic biology and safety using mini-games.